WE DEDICATE THIS BOOK:

I want to speak about Robert as a student, as a member of the English High School community and as my friend. Robert saw his own gentle creativity for what it was — a gift of life and he generously shared this gift with his classmates and teachers. He was not as is sometimes the case, selfish with his own talents and endeavors.

For Robert, doing things meant “doing with others”. That is the kind of spirit which we all need and should strive for. It is a spirit that will be sorely missed by all of us.

Robert will be missed.

This interscholastic contest between the nation's two oldest secondary schools continues to epitomize excellence in schoolboy athletics. Each year the teams from The English High School and Boston Latin School seem to play their regular schedule merely as practice for today's game, the Super Bowl of Thanksgiving Day classics. The resurgence of both teams this year should make for an exciting game.

I congratulate the coaches and players of both teams and anticipate another fine effort on the field.

This year also marks the first time in recent memory that the souvenir program for this game has been cooperatively produced by the students and faculty of both schools. This collaboration serves to prove that the English-Latin rivalry, although intense, is indeed a friendly one.

Finally, this game is dedicated to the memory of Robert Cumberlander, a student and Football player at The English High School. Robert passed away prior to one of the English High football games and this season was dedicated to him by the team. He was the embodiment of The English High School ideal — a young man of honor and achievement. With both pride and sorrow we dedicate this game to Robert.

the HEADMASTERS

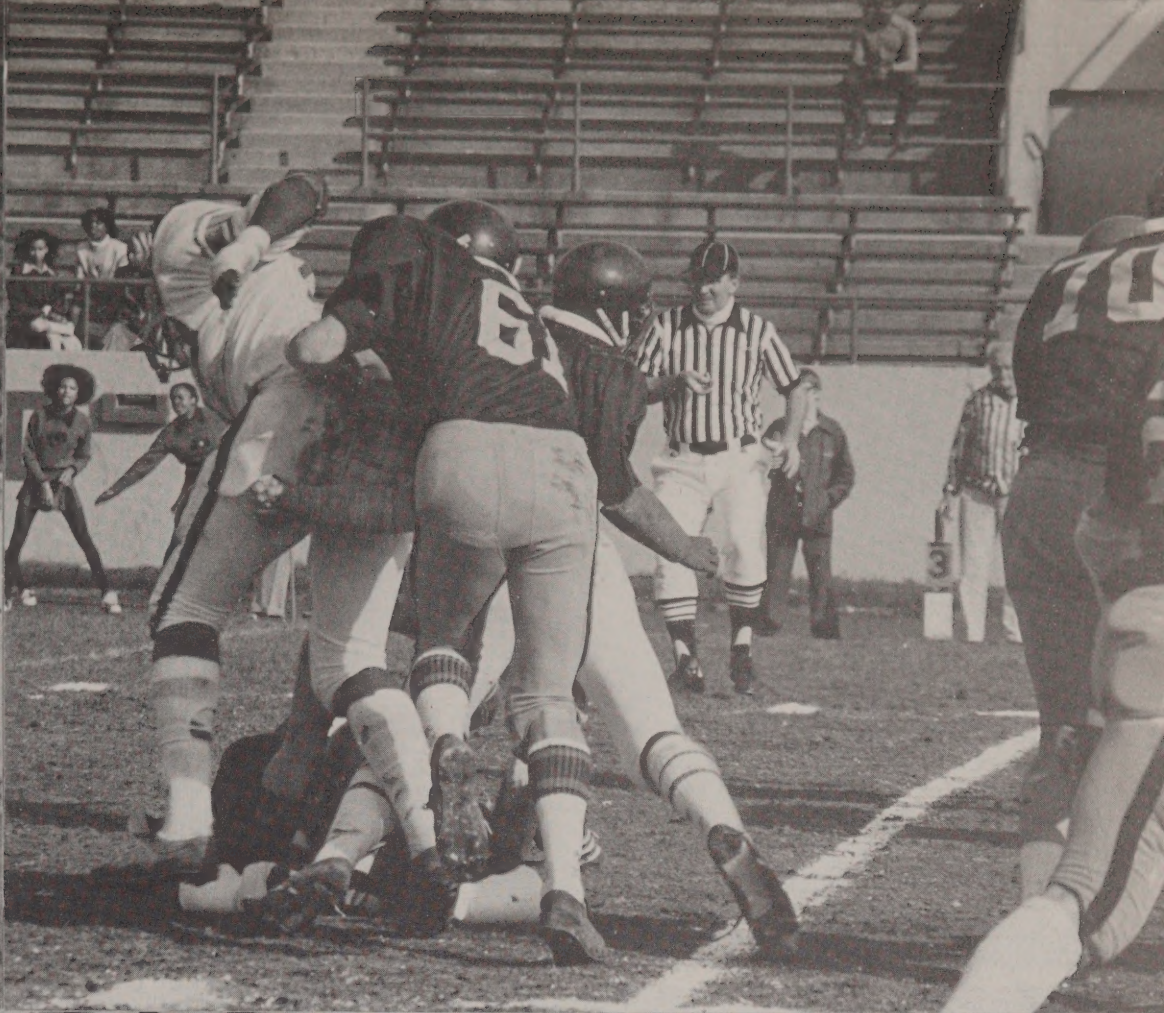

For the first time in five years, this program is a combined effort of the students and faculty of both Boston English and Boston Latin. It is indicative of the friendly rivalry that exists between these two great secondary schools. The spirit, enthusiasm and determination of students and Alumni is as great now as it was when this great series first began.

I commend the dedication of the coaches and players of both schools. Let us strive to maintain the tradition of school excellence and good sportsmanship which has existed through the long and brilliant history of each school.

THE ENGLISH COACHES

This season was a representative one for the English High Football Team. We had many successful practice sessions and some rewarding game victories.

All of our coaches and players have worked in harmony with one another, both during the Pre-Season and the Season. We believe the major results of this effort will be realized in future seasons.

We appreciate the privilege of being a part of interscholastic sports and the opportunity to be a part of the English High community.

The group of Student-Athletes that I have had the privilege to coach this season have done an outstanding job. I am extremely proud of them and their dedication to Latin School Football.

Our defense — "The Crunch Bunch" — has given us a super performance thus far this season as they have shut out six out of eight opponents. The offense team, which had only one returning letterman, has come on strong as the season progressed.

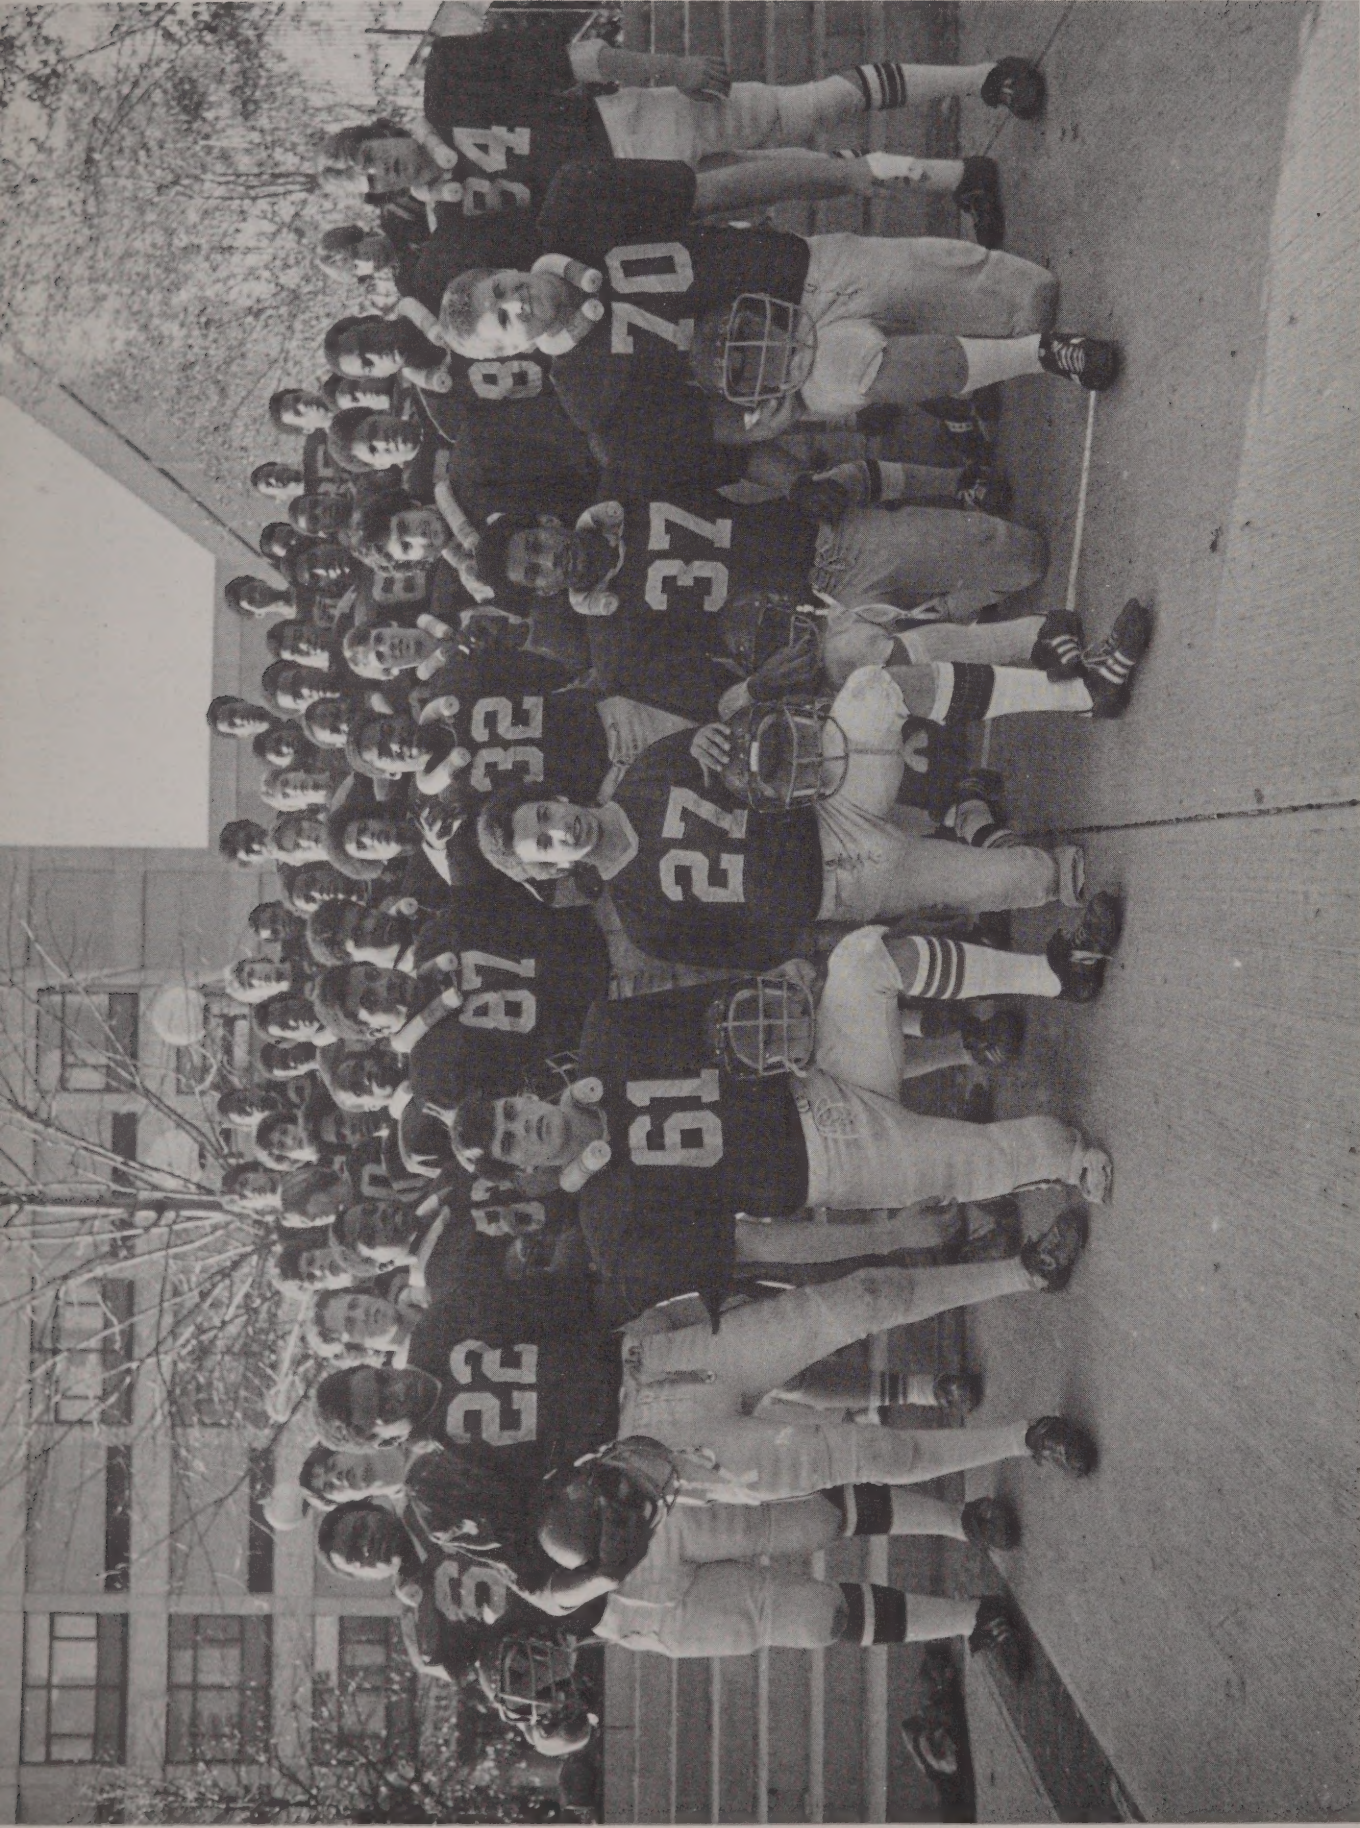

I would like to give special thanks to my three Assistant Coaches, Steve Cohen, Bob Ford and Paul Mani for a job well done.

LATIN the team

For the fourth year English High School's TV Studio continues its work with Coach Pearson and the football team.

At each game student crews video tape the action below them on the playing field. The following Monday after its daily workout the coaches meet with the team in the TV Studio. There before the unforgetting eye of the television screen the games action will unfold. With the use of the VTR's slow motion and stop action all the teams successes as well as missed assignments and broken plays are re-played.

The collaboration continues to be a valuable teaching tool for both the TV crews and the English High School teams. The TV Studio hopes to expand its capabilities with an even greater involvement in our athletic program. Students not usually involved in athletics are finding their ways to playing fields and athletes have the use of a valuable tool with which to improve their skills.
